PROGRAM NOTES

ANN CAWLEY [née COOPER]: the first piano teacher of Jane and Cassandra Austen in 1783. There are two confirmed manuscripts belonging to her and one bearing her signature on one of the pages while displaying 'Jane Austen' on the flyleaf.

JANE AUSTEN: a dedicated pianist, she practiced for two hours in the morning on the family's square piano, using music from the family's large collection of manuscripts (featuring over 600 works for a variety of instruments and ensembles). Many of them are written out in her own hand, including airs, dances, classical works, and folk tunes.

CASSANDRA AUSTEN: the beloved sister of Jane; at least three of the substantial manuscripts in the collection feature her signature or what are supposed to be her initials, C.E. Austen, on the flyleaf.

THE AUSTEN FAMILY MUSIC BOOKS: This collection is comprised of 18 printed and handwritten volumes collected by the female members of the Austen family between the years of 1750 and 1824. Several of the manuscripts copied or collected by Jane Austen are in the possession of Jane Austen's House Museum. A complete history and online catalogue of the books can be found online at <https://janeaustens.house/> and <https://archive.org/details/austenfamilymusicbooks>. In addition to the manuscripts featured in today's program, the set also includes scores collected by the following Austen women:

ELIZABETH KNIGHT [née BRIDGES; married Jane's brother Edward Knight in 1797]

ELIZA AUSTEN [née HANCOCK; married Jane's brother Henry in 1797]

MRS HENRY JACKSON [Mother] & ELEANOR AUSTEN [née JACKSON; married Jane's brother Henry in 1820]

CASSANDRA JANE & LOUISA KNIGHT [children of Edward and Elizabeth Knight]

THE JANE AUSTEN PLAYLIST: Founded by Laura Klein in 2019, The Jane Austen Playlist is a historical music project featuring the music of the Austen family in digitized notations, companion recordings, and dramatically narrated performances. Containing over 600 songs and pieces for various instruments, this collection of 18 manuscripts comprises printed and handwritten works curated over time by the female members of the Austen family, several in Jane Austen's own hand. Recent and upcoming performance programs include The Themes and Variations of Scottish Airs, Love and Music in Regency England, and Pride and Prejudice.
